Democratic Label Will Not Restrain Republicans From Supporting Tariff Revision Bills.

to have been shown by the utterances of the parties to the combination and by night united votes to force the report of the wool bill out of the committee on finance, such as preciude expectation of a hard and fast coalition among them. No more striking instance was shown of this than the poignant remark of Democratic Leader Martin to Mr. Dixon of Montana, one of the republicans who voted with democrats. Mr. Martin questioned the ultimate motive of Mr. Dixon in the latter's suggestion that he would offer the farmers' free list bill and the wool revision as amendments to the Canadian reciprocity bill.

"If the gentleman wants those bills offered as amendments for the purpose of assassinating the reciprocity bill, I am

Senator Bailey asked Mr. Dixon bluntly if he would vote for the farmers' free list bill on its merits if it should fail to be tacked on to the Canadian reciprocity bill, and the Montana senator replied that he had not yet read the farmers' free list bill. Later in the debate Senator Cummins, another republican who was party to the coalition, declared that he is not in favor Every job of Printing turned out by J. & of the wool bill as it passed the House; D. possesses some new feature that adds to the business-winning power of the printing rem duties proposed, but favors specific of the wool bill as it passed the House; rates. The debate exposed very clearly what all senators know, that there will be a split up of the coalescing forces as different phases of the propositions are presented. it is well understood, of course, that some republican senators are intent upon embarrassing President Taft as much as possible; that others are aiming to kill the Canadian reciprocity bill, and that cannot afford to stand for low duties or raw wool and for an enslaught upon the woolen industry. Undertake to Pass Bills.

The democrats for their part cannot be party, as Senator Martin pointed out, to ANNUAL "assassination" of the Canadian reciprocity bill. They have taken unction that measure through the House, promising votes for it in the Senate, and are depending upon it as the corner stone of the political capital they hope to build up in this extra session of Congress. So the situation in the Senate is kaleidscopic and as likely to change as swiftly and frequently and to present as many varying colors as a kaleidoscope. At oundation there is declared to be no common ground upon which the incongruous political elements which combined last night can maintain a harmonious front. The one feature of the situation which to some senators is definite is th indication that a majority of the Senate is in a trame of mind to tackle a more extended revision of the tariff than they had reason up to this time to expect. Here Until Snow Flies

The other feature which is in evidence as a result of last night's vote is that the Senate committee on finance will not be allowed to confine the work of the session to the Canadian reciprocity bill, and progressive republicans are not to be deterred from supporting lower duties on woolen goods, even though the proposition to reduce the tariff emanates from democratic sources and is in fact a dem-

Woman's Nature

It is the nature of women to suffer uncomplainingly the discomforts and fears that accompany the bearing of children. Motherbood is their crowning glory, and they brave its sufferings for the joy that children bring. No expectant mother need suffer, nowever, during the period of waiting, nor feel that she is in danger when baby comes, if Mother's Friend is used in preparation of the event.
